In this text I will express my opinion of the following proverb "Where there is a Will there is a way". I ~~understand this phrase in~~ think this phrase means that if somebody have enough courage and will to do something they will reach their goal. There is several reasons I think this phrase is right: First, Will is ability to focus your efforts in a way you need and this is the key to reach anything in life. Secondly, courage is required to start the way to your target and don't let obstacles on your way intimidate you and get ~~side tracked~~ ^{you} sidetracked. Personally for me a perfect example of this proverb is my way the start of my way of learning English. I was scared of the amount of work I had to do but I overcame myself and now I can speak it freely. So to conclude will and courage to face of something new will led your path to success in anything you want to do and with enough efforts even mountains will fall to your feet.
